IV. KEY RESPONSIBILITIES

- A. The Committee's job is one of oversight and it recognizes (i) that the Company's management is responsible for preparing the Company's financial statements and (ii) that the independent auditor is responsible for auditing those financial statements. Additionally, the Committee recognizes that financial management including the Chief Risk Officer, Chief Internal Auditor, the internal audit staff, as well as the independent auditor, have more time, knowledge and more detailed information about the Company than do Committee members; e Consequently, in carrying out its oversight responsibilities, the Committee is not providing any expert or special assurance as to the Company's financial statements or any professional certification as to the independent auditor's work.
- B. The following functions shall be the common recurring activities of the Committee in carrying out its oversight function:

With respect to the independent auditor

1. Be directly responsible for the appointment, compensation and oversight of the work of the independent auditor employed by the Company (including discussion and resolution of disagreements between management and the auditor regarding financial reporting) to audit the financial statements of the Company and its divisions and subsidiaries. The independent auditor so selected shall be a registered public accounting firm as required by the Exchange Act.
2. Review the scope and plan of the work to be done by the independent auditor for each year and review the performance of the independent auditor on at least an annual basis. The Committee must establish with the independent auditor an understanding about the terms of the auditor's engagement, including the audit objective and the auditor's and management's responsibilities, which understanding must be recorded in an engagement letter.

3. Preapprove, consistent with the requirements of Section 10A of the Exchange Act, all auditing services and non-audit services provided to the Company by its independent auditor. The committee may delegate to one or more designated members of the Committee the authority to grant the required preapprovals, provided that the decisions of any member(s) to whom such authority is delegated to preapprove an activity shall be presented to the full committee at each of its scheduled meetings. The Committee shall also review and approve disclosures required to be included in SEC periodic reports with respect to non-audit services.
4. On an annual basis, review and discuss with the independent auditor all relationships that the independent auditor has with the Company in order to evaluate the independent auditor's continued independence. 5. At least annually, obtain and review an annual report from the independent auditor describing (i) the independent auditor's internal quality control procedures, and (ii) any material issues raised by the most recent internal quality control review, or peer review, of the independent auditor, or by any inquiry or investigation by governmental or professional authorities, within the preceding five years, respecting one or more independent audits carried out by the independent auditor, and any steps taken to deal with any such issues. The Committee should discuss with the independent auditor whether the Company's audit is selected for review in an inspection and whether any of the matters described in the public portion of the inspection report involve the Company's audit (or whether they involve issues and approaches similar to those that arise or could arise in the audit of the Company's financial statements), among other issues.
6. Ensure, as required by law, the regular rotation of (i) the lead or coordinating audit partner having primary responsibility for the audit or review, (ii) the concurring audit partner(s), and (iii) any other significant audit team members.

14. Receive and review a report from the independent auditor, prior to the filing of its audit report with the SEC, regarding any significant unusual transactions that are outside the course of business for the Company or that otherwise appear to be unusual due to their timing, size, or nature. The independent auditor must also describe management's policies or practices in accounting for those transactions.

15. Receive and review from the independent auditor a report regarding: (i) all significant accounting policies and practices, critical accounting policies and practices, and critical accounting estimates of the Company; (ii) all alternative treatments of financial information within generally accepted accounting principles that have been discussed with management officials of the Company, ramifications of the use of such alternative disclosures and treatments, and the treatment preferred by the independent auditor; and (iii) other material written communications between the independent auditor and the management of the Company, such as any management letter or schedule of unadjusted differences. Management is responsible for the timely filing of all required SEC forms relating to the event.

The Chairman, or designated members, of the Audit Committee shall immediately communicate with one to four independent registered public accounting firms who specialize in the audit of publicly traded financial-institution holding companies to submit proposals, if interested, for the annual audit. Interviews with interested firms will take place as soon as possible by the entire Audit Committee. The professional qualifications of the firms, including background and experience of the partner and audit personnel, should be reviewed.
